August 2023

Where did the first half of the year go ?

We have had a very busy 2023 so far with some exciting development and post Go Live 'hand holding' and support, further to implementations of our Evidential Property, Records and Archive and our Incident/Facilities Management platforms within Police Forces and universities.

A Couple of New Platforms

Some may be aware that we have had our toes dipped into the mental health and wellbeing area over the last few years and following on from our wellbeing and mental health webinars for the Emergency Services. After some subsequent collaboration with multiple Police Forces and the help and guidance of many wellbeing leads throughout the public sector, we have now developed our staff wellbeing and mental health support platform. This platform provides all the support tools, our experience and research has shown, that are required to manage staff support efficiently and effectively – All within a person centered platform.

Given the victim code that recently came into play we have also re-shaped our staff wellbeing platform to provide a digital solution for Police enabling them to provide support to victims of crime.

Both of these platforms can be cloud hosted and have the provision of mobiles apps.

Recent Development

After successfully developing a fully integrated module to one of our platforms, one of our Government Agency clients are now able to securely manage the logistics side of their business. Facilitating the management of their workflow, from request through to actions, and providing an audit trail of item movements between them and their partnered organisations.

Alongside this and some configurational changes to systems to aid business process changes on a few platforms, we have undergone
